

2011 Be.Leadership Programme

The Programme Facilitators

Philip Patston has 20 years' experience initiating projects and organisations in the not for profit sector. These include Ripple Trust, Manawanui in Charge, Auckland Disability Law and Diversityworks Trust.

He is an established leader in the disability, social change and creative sectors and was an inaugural member of both the NZ Social Entrepreneur Fellowship and ART Venture Creative Entrepreneur programme in 2007.

Philip has a keen interest in working with people to explore diversity, creativity and change, particularly with respect to how disability is perceived, defined and articulated.

Lesley Slade has a long history in leadership development with individuals, organisations and communities. Lesley started her adult life by training to be a teacher. She has worked as a community worker - initiating and setting up community programmes and has held senior human resource and organisational development roles.

She was the Chief Executive of Leadership New Zealand, a role she had held since February 2005 when Leadership New Zealand became operational. Lesley remains working in the leadership development space as a consultant on leadership and people development.
